Four Elements Of Gratitude

(Staff Photo By Rod MacLeod)

Song For This Thanksgiving Day

By Leonard Randolph

NOW IN THE SOFT-solemn Autumn days we approach the hour of gratitude.

More than any other people on Earth, Americans have reason to be grateful. The reason is evident in the material things of our life, in the abundance of our conveniences.

We go farther, faster than any other nation. We streamline our cars and our minds race hard to keep pace with the rumbling onrush of our scientists' discovery. We have broken some secrets of the universe.

Tomorrow we uncover the great and enduring and triumphant secret of the human heart. . . . There are many elements in Thanksgiving. Only a few of them are for sale.

Need
The need for gratitude is never confined to one hour or one day. It is constant and ever-present as the mind. And its power, its affirmation, lies in all there is within the small or great world around us. It is in each moment of each hour of life. It is in the candle we light, the fruitbowl on the table, the opened book whose words are new or old yet never-changing.

It is in the hands of a child, holding a book, pressing upon a windowpane, searching the vast mystery of sand on a beach, turning the pages of a book like small winds on the endless sea of learning.

This light from a small candle cannot conquer the darkness. As it burns and flutters in the slight nightwind it throws its light on one small table in one room.

And yet, because the light is there, the human eye has been unshuttered. It is not like the dazzling, overcrowded light of day when there are many things to turn the mind of Man away into the side streets of distraction. There is no sudden action in this corner of the night, no stuttering of motors, no harsh and unrelenting sound.

Within the circle of this light there are three solitary things. Slight and simple as the sight of bird's wings brushing on the sky, they hold the answer to Thanksgiving.

In the living presence of light our eyes behold the harvest as it falls beneath our hands, is grasped between our fingers. Its meaning lingers after the sun-browned, nodding fields of wheat are gone; after the final, ripened fruit is eaten; after the formal snow has come and transformed all the brilliance of these autumn days.

Promise

Beyond the harvest lies the promise of things to come, the stored seed to be planted, the plowing of the fields, the first green shoots of Spring, the Summer's mellowing, the yield of grain again.

One candle's light can make us see. And for this vision, there is gratitude. In everything in human life, there is one grain of gratitude—for each of these is part of Man's irrevocable conscience.

Tomorrow, on the cautiously-spaced calendar of our day, we will give thanks for what we have, for what we own—and what we hold within our hearts.

Are there any greater things than these: The quiet beauty of this gold-filled bowl; the innocence of hands; the presence of light; the truth and knowledge in these pages?

Once this was all there was to our Thanksgiving Day.

It was a direct, unsophisticated hour within an orbit of humility. But we were "closer" to our elements of gratitude then, we have been told. There was something personal in the harvest, there was a direct relationship between Thanksgiving and the men who made it.

Tomorrow there will be food enough for everyone in America. This, alone, is a reason for gratitude.

Yet there is much more in the room in which we live, along the holiday-silent street, within the sun-drenched hills around us.

Take this candle, this small symbol of the harvest, this book of Man's restless quest for honesty, this child's hands and we understand the mystery of gratitude.

We are caught in the center of Man's search for truth and love and mercy.

This is the season and the song of our thanksgiving.

Government May Move Against Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The federal government tonight was reported about ready to seek a court order to stop the five-day multimillion dollar Atlantic and Gulf Coast longshoremen's strike.

The walkout has closed all East and Gulf Coast ports, except for military shipments, and the government in Washington was reported under mounting pressure by harried shippers.

President Eisenhower's administration was reported actively considering two alternate courses of going into court for injunctions to stop the strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Assn.

One of the courses would involve action by the President to invoke the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. These provide for an 80-day court order against continuing the strike.

On this score, however, Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said "So far as I know there are no plans as of this moment to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act."

The other course being considered—perhaps a more likely one in view of Snyder's comment—was via the National Labor Relations Board. It would be based on charges brought some weeks ago by the New York Shipping Assn. which complained that the ILA had violated the T-H law by insisting on bargaining for a coast-wide labor contract.

Good Morning!

It takes two to make a marriage—a single girl and an anxious mother.

Some Soviet Tank Units Depart From Budapest Area

BUDAPEST, Nov. 20 (AP)—Some Soviet tank units seem to have pulled out of Budapest, whose major industrial areas remain paralyzed by a shutdown strike. And there was no sign of Russian infantry here today.

Withdrawal of the Russians is demanded by a large segment of Hungary's workers. They also want Imre Nagy returned to the premiership from which the Russians deposed him in favor of Janos Kadar, the Hungarian Communist party's ex-boss.

Most of the modern T34 tanks which led the attack on Hungarian resistance forces Nov. 4 apparently are being replaced by Soviet World War II models.

These older tanks had proved easy prey to gasoline bombs in the October revolution which gave Hungary a brief start on the road to free elections and a multiparty government. The T34s now appear concentrated only in the most strategic points.

No Confirmation

The rumor that 20 Russian infantry divisions had moved into Hungary remained without confirmation. Competent diplomatic sources in Western legations expressed doubt at the story. A check of a report that one infantry division—meaning perhaps 10,000 men—had been billeted at the suburb of Koebanya disclosed the residents had seen not a single foot soldier.

The demand for independence drew recognition from the government's official newspaper, Nepszabadsag. It expressed hope the Soviet Union would "respect the off-expressed wish of the Hungarian people to live independently and according to its own will."

Some misgivings were expressed about the Polish-Soviet agreement to maintain Russian troops in Poland. The paper said the agreement could "give rise to fear that the Soviet Union might insist on similar conditions in our case."

Newspaper Association To Appeal Ruling

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Assn. today directed its counsel to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court a decision by the State Supreme Court empowering a county judge to ban taking of news pictures in a public court house.

General Manager G. Richard Dew announced the publishers' action and said it was taken in a move "to preserve freedom of the press in America."

The State Supreme Court decision stemmed from a rule by Judge Edward G. Bauer, of the Westmoreland County Court, prohibiting news photographers from taking pictures any place in the county court house.

Place

The rule became effective at the trial of John Wesley Wable in the Pennsylvania Turnpike slayings. Wable was convicted and executed.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, the Greensburg Tribune-Review and the PNPA protested the court's ruling.

No Paper Tomorrow

THE Daily Record will not be published tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day.

Santa's Christmas Gifts Guide and a complete account of national, state and local news will be published on Friday.

Oil Shortage Brings Rationing In Britain

U. N. Secretary Satisfied With Peace Patrol

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold will report to the U. N. Assembly his general satisfaction with the entry of the U. N. peace patrol into Egypt and its use so far, diplomats said tonight.

He will report also that he has asked Britain, France and Israel when they plan to withdraw from Egypt. They have not answered. The diplomats, who would not be identified, said that a seven-nation advisory committee had finally approved three reports by the U. N. secretary general based on his trip to Egypt and developments to date. They said these reports were:

1. A summary of his talks with Egyptian President Nasser and his observations on the spot. No agreements were reached with Nasser. Nasser's views on the use of the force were recorded.

2. An account of negotiations for salvage operations by Scandinavian and other European companies to clear the Suez Canal of obstructions. It is estimated this will be a task lasting five months or more.

3. A factual account of messages from Hammarskjold to Britain, France and Israel noting the U. N. Assembly resolutions calling on them to withdraw from Egypt, noting that they have not done so, and asking when they plan to comply with the Assembly request.

Sources

British and French sources said they had nothing to say at this time. They said they have not seen the completed text and that when it is received any reaction would have to await decisions by the cabinets in London and Paris.

Israeli sources had no comment. Disagreement between Hammarskjold and his advisory committee was reported to have held up the report on the Middle East police force and the related documents. Diplomats said some members of the committee objected to the vague wording used by Hammarskjold.

One instance was said to have been an indication that Nasser would have the final word on where the police force could be used in Egypt. After an afternoon meeting with the advisory committee, it was reported the language had been made satisfactory. It was noted by diplomats here that the police force has begun to spread out without objection from Nasser. A Norwegian detail will move tomorrow to Port Said, where there have been reports of sniping.

Non-Red Nations Make New Demands

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Non-Communist diplomats—bolstered by surprise support from neutral Asia—chorused demands today that U. N. observers be admitted into war-torn Hungary.

As the 79-nation General Assembly continued a new round of debate on the Hungarian question, delegate after delegate from both Asia and the West, called on Hungary's Red rulers to throw open their frontiers to the United Nations.

Burma, Iraq, Australia, New Zealand and Israel added their weight to the mounting pressure for an on-the-spot check.

Hungarian authorities have flatly refused to let in U. N. investigators. But they have said they would allow U. N. representatives to bring relief supplies into the satellite.

Token Move

What had been considered a token move in view of the adamant Soviet bloc position, gained impetus when neutral India, Ceylon and Indonesia suddenly abandoned their aloof stand and joined in the move. They put in a resolution calling on Hungary's pro-Kremlin government to accede to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's request that U. N. personnel be permitted to investigate.

The Asian appeal caused open delight among the Western powers who had not counted on such support.

Nehru Rejects Demands

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru rejected today Socialist demands that India withdraw recognition of the Russian-sponsored Hungarian government of Premier Janos Kadar.

Egypt Seeks Investigation

CAIRO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Egypt asked the U. N. tonight to investigate its charges that invading British, French and Israeli forces committed atrocities on civilians.

An official statement forwarded to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said the Egyptian government wants the U. N. to set up a committee "for the purpose of investigating into the barbarous aggression."

While Egypt pressed its charges, a company of Norwegian U. N. police troops prepared to move into Port Said tomorrow to try to ease tension between the Egyptians and occupying British-French forces.

The Egyptians have raised the charges of atrocities before and they have been denied by the British, French and Israeli governments.

Official
Now, the official statement said, Egypt proposes that the U. N. investigate the charges in cooperation with the International Red Cross.

"The Egyptian government demands the aggressors should be punished so that the world may live in peace. If they are left unpunished for their crimes, aggression will be repeated in a more violent manner," the statement said.

It did not specifically call for a war crimes trial, as demanded in the Egyptian press. The press wants Prime Minister Eden of Britain to be tried.

The government charged British and French forces in Port Said "isolated mansions, fired without discrimination on peaceful women and children in their homes, robbed civilians and compelled them to work by force of arms."

Statement
The statement accused Israel of killing large numbers of civilians "without reason other than savage revenge."

Britain and France were charged with "falsely accusing Egypt of collaboration with the Soviet Union 'to justify barbarous aggression on Egypt.'"

The statement then invited the U. N. to investigate British, French and Israeli charges that Israel's army had seized 50 million dollars worth of Soviet-made military equipment in Sinai. It said Egypt lost only 30 T34 medium tanks and 50 armored cars. Copies of the statement went to all foreign diplomatic missions for forwarding to their governments.

More U. N. police forces were flying into Egypt. The U. N. office in Cairo said 600 officers and men were now here.

Clark Wins By 16,000

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—Unofficial figures today indicated Democrat Joseph S. Clark, former Philadelphia mayor, defeated U. S. Sen. James H. Duff, Republican, by some 16,000 votes in the Nov. 6 balloting.

With all but four of the state's 67 counties reported on a count of the military and absentee votes, Duff picked up 5,972 in that part of the count. On the military-absentee tally, Duff had 14,549 and Clark 9,285.

In Front

With about half of the county reports official, Clark was approximately 21,000 in front on the basis of the civilian vote count. Clark had 2,291,125 against 2,275,073.

The four counties still to be heard from on the military voting were Beaver, Delaware, Lancaster and Warren. Those four were expected to have a total of about 1,500 absentee ballots.

The original day-after-election report on entirely unofficial returns had Clark leading Duff by about 17,000 votes.

Herter, Governor Of Massachusetts, Expected To Join Eisenhower Team At Early Date

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The White House disclosed today that Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts may join the Eisenhower team after his term ends in January.

It also was announced that President Eisenhower has accepted the resignations of Roswell B. Perkins as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare; and William H. Jackson as presidential assistant for national security affairs.

Asked about the possibility of Herter being recruited by the administration, James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he would have to put it this way: "He is and will be governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts until the end of this year."

Certainly his great talents and services, I would hope, would be used in some way and not be lost to the country."

Choice

Herter is the man Harold E. Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aide, boomed for the Republican vice-presidential nomination last summer as a substitute for Vice President Nixon. Herter said he would refuse the nomination, however, and he ended up by placing Nixon's name in nomination.

There has been speculation that Herter might succeed Winthrop Aldrich as ambassador to Great Britain if Aldrich steps out. Hagerty wouldn't say whether anything like that was under consideration.

Heating Supplies To Feel Pinch

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The prospect of a cheerless and chilly Christmas was brought home to Britons today with the imposition of oil rationing.

Orders went out to cut motorists down to a basic 200 miles of driving a month—less than seven miles a day. Apartment houses and other non-industrial buildings with central heating will have their gas-diesel oil supplies cut by a third, their fuel oil by a fourth.

But all the news was not bad. The government announced it will begin Thursday to demobilize men from army ranks swollen when Egypt seized the Suez Canal. It also agreed to the entry of U. N. police forces into Port Said, paving the way for a retreat from Egypt.

These developments came about with Prime Minister Eden confined to his home, ill of physical and nervous exhaustion. A physician visited him twice today. There was speculation his days in office may be numbered.

The oil rationing grows from a shortage due to blocking of the Suez Canal. Britain and France blame Egypt for the actual blocking, but Egypt acted only after the two powers had attacked the Suez Canal zone—in an announced effort to safeguard the canal.

Order

The order rationing oil brought with it the specter of austerity that hung over the nation's larger and industry during World War II and its aftermath.

Rationing will begin Dec. 17. Fuel Minister Aubrey Jones announced in the House of Commons to the jeers of opposition Laborites.

The public transportation system will be affected less severely. Employers are being asked to stagger working hours to ease the strain at peak travel periods.

Closure of the Suez Canal, the destruction of some Middle East pipelines and Arab boycotts that followed the attack on Egypt have nearly halted the flow of Middle East oil to this country.

Britain has begun drawing on her shrinking gold-dollar reserves to buy replacement oil in America. Eden's government has been told by the United States not to expect help or credit for the purchase of emergency supplies until British and French troops quit Egypt.

Eden's deputy, R.A. Butler, told the House of Commons that terms of the withdrawal from the Suez area are under discussion between U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Mystery Marks Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The White House stirred up a bit of mystery today by saying President Eisenhower might hold some special kind of a conference Friday.

Just as mysteriously, it said later that the meeting would not be held.

Dates For Hearings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities said today subcommittees will conduct hearings in the next three weeks in Youngstown, Ohio, and Chicago. The Youngstown hearing were set for Nov. 26, 27 and 28; and those in Chicago for Dec. 3 and 4.

Another report was that Herter might replace Jackson as a security adviser but Hagerty told reporters, "I wouldn't go too far with that one."

Herter could not be reached for comment. Jackson, a New York lawyer and investment banker, has been on the White House staff since last March 1 and his resignation is effective Jan. 1. He had agreed to serve only until that date. Perkins said he planned to relinquish his welfare department post not later than Nov. 30 to return to his law practice. Perkins is a Washingtonian. At the time of his welfare appointment March 1, 1954, Perkins was only 27 and was one of the youngest assistant secretaries in the government.

Viewing the Screens

THE FIRST OF FOUR Thanksgiving parades will come from New Jersey at 7 tonight via Ch. 7. Celebrities will include William Bendis, Nanette Fabray, Emmett Kelly and Sal Maglie, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher. Highlights will include the use of "black light" to make special effects, a march of the clowns, dolls, and, of course, Santa Claus.

A hectic day with Donald Duck is in store for those who see "Disneyland" at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7. Donald has forgotten his own birthday, but not his nephews Huey, Louie and Dewey, who plan a big surprise party for him. Afterward, Donald returns the favor by giving them a party and showing cartoons of Mickey Mouse, Pluto, Goofy and Donald, himself.

The adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are set to music at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2 and 10. Tom and Huck run away to become pirates after they see a murder committed and are so terrified they swear never to tell what they have seen. Three acts and about seventeen musical numbers should make for a pleasing hour's entertainment.

Sports

Boxing at 10 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7—Tommy Bain, Los Angeles, vs. Ike Chestnut, N. Y. C., featherweights, 10 rounds.

Sherman Theater — "Love Me Tender," starring Elvis Presley, Richard Egan and Debra Paget.

Grand Theater — "Friendly Persuasion," starring Gary Cooper and Dorothy McGuire.

Thanksgiving Highlights

This is the day of thanksgiving, turkey, football games and parades, beginning with one from Detroit at 10:15 a. m., to be seen on ch. 6 and 7; then to Philadelphia and ch. 10 at 10:45 for their annual parade, and then on to New York at 11 a. m. for the final one to be televised over ch. 3 and 4. Big Mousketeer Jimmy Dodd will be a feature of the Detroit parade; Captain Kangaroo in the Philadelphia parade, and Roy Rogers and Dale Evans in the one in New York.

An annual musical classic that has become a family institution, "The Thanksgiving Festival of Music," will be presented for the eighth year at 5 p. m. on ch. 2 and 10. This year the program will be in the form of a cavalcade of melody from the post-Civil War period minstrel songs to today's rock 'n' roll.

Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney will be joined by children of United Nations personnel in their observation of Thanksgiving at 8 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7. Also on the program will be six outstanding attractions, including a giant cobra wrestling, postponed from last week.

At 9:30 the little devil of the Plaza Hotel, in the shape of "Eloise," is the center of a 90-minute romp on "Playhouse 90" on ch. 2 and 10. At the same time on ch. 3 and 4 Ernie Ford will be welcoming as his guest the dapper sophisticate, Adolphe Menjou.

Sports

Pro Football at noon on ch. 2 and 10—Green Bay Packers vs. Detroit Lions.

College Football at 1:45 p. m. on ch. 3 and 4—Cornell vs. Pennsylvania.

Amateur Boxing at 9 p. m. on ch. 13.

Kresgeville

Mrs. W. E. Andrews

Marlene Christman, Kunkletown was the overnight guest of her classmate, Barbara Beers.

Supervising principal of schools Harry T. Young attended a meeting of school administrators at Tunkhannock on Wednesday.

Mrs. Lawrence Smale, sons David and Dennis spent the weekend with her parents at Milford.

A packed auditorium greeted the Senior Class of Polk High School as they presented their three-act comedy "Shoot the Works" on Friday night. The play was directed by Miss Marijane Everett, head of the English Dept.

PP&L Names Shovlin To New Position

FRANCIS J. SHOVLIN has been appointed Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's superintendent of lines and substations, it was announced today by H. Ferguson, PP&L's operating vice president. Shovlin succeeds D. A. Campbell, Jr., recently promoted to superintendent of operation for the company.

In his new position with headquarters at Hazleton, Shovlin will be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the company's entire transmission and distribution facilities consisting of nearly 30,000 miles of transmission and distribution lines as well as the hundreds of substations that supply power to P P & L customers throughout the local utility's 10,000-square-mile service territory.

Assistant

After serving as a cadet engineer at Hazleton, Mount Carmel and at PP&L's Wallenpaupack power plant, Shovlin was named assistant to the superintendent of transmission at Hazleton in 1929. He was promoted to division superintendent of transmission at Mount Carmel in 1936 and in 1942 was transferred to Shenandoah. In 1948 he was promoted to Lehigh division superintendent.

Combined Church Service Set Tonight

CONGREGATION of the Shawnee Presbyterian and the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Churches will meet for a combined service of thanksgiving and Holy Communion at Middle Smithfield tonight at 7:45.

The worship will be conducted by Rev. David Newquist, who will preach the communion meditation, "The Thankful Heart of Jesus," taken from St. Luke's gospel, Chapter 24.

Roger Ruhman, of Princeton Seminary, will assist in the worship and communion service. The combined choirs will sing "The Prayer of Thanksgiving."

Nursery
During the worship hour, a nursery will be provided for the smaller children. The church will be decorated appropriately for the Thanksgiving season by Mrs. Wendell Wicks.

Elders assisting in the communion will be Clarence McWilliams, Arthur Courtright, Mahlon Hallett, Alvin DeWitt, Willard Stettler, Omar Michaels, Ross Fuller, Sterling Walter and Irvin Walters.

The offering will go toward the Presbyterian work among the armed forces.

Holt Wyckoff Named President Of 1957 Community Chest

United Fund Major Topic Of Discussion

HOLT WYCKOFF was named president of Monroe County Community Chest and Council for the coming year at the annual Chest meeting last night.

It was a meeting at which the Chest also went on record as being willing to follow the wishes of community residents on the proposal to establish a United Fund drive.

Other new officers are: Clifford Cramer, campaign chairman for 1957-58 and first vice president; S. Clair Smith, second vice-president; Mrs. Edward Knob, secretary; John Watt, treasurer, Martin S. Baldwin, retiring president, serves as immediate past president during the coming year.

The following important elections were also held: Directors, with terms expiring in January, 1960—Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, Robert Wright, Detlef Hansen, William Malleson, Jr., Mrs. Claude Leister was elected to a term expiring in January, 1958 as replacement for Donald Hayes who move from the area.)

Committee
Budget committee—Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. John Ferrebee, William Gorton, Gerald Poss, and Miss Julia Seig. Finance committee—Frank LaBar, C. Edward DePuy, Clifford Gilling, Frank Stackhouse and William S. Wyckoff.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of State Teachers College, was the main speaker. In his address, titled "How Wide Is Your World," Dr. Koehler emphasized that "the world is as wide as we make it." He said that a person can travel all over the world and do nothing but collect information. Information without appreciation and compassion is without great value, he said.

This rule, he pointed out, is especially true of Community Chest, because workers can present information to the people about the 12 Chest agencies but if this information is not appreciated by the people and unless they regard the services performed by Chest agencies for their fellow man with compassion, the Chest drive cannot hope to succeed.

Discussion of United Fund was opened by Mrs. Leister, chairman of social planning, who pointed out that complaints had repeatedly been received from workers that there were "too many drives." Mrs. Leister emphasized that "we are not advocating United Fund" but that "we feel it should be studied carefully and discussed. Let's find out what the people think."

Among those contributing to the discussion:

Baldwin, who pointed out that many other communities are now setting up United Fund campaigns because they have discovered they are the answer to "multiple drives."

Joyce Petersen, a local woman who is a representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis (polio), who told the group: That some national groups, which concentrate on research and eventual cure of a disease, are forbidden by their parent organizations from entering United Funds. Among these, she said, are Heart, Cancer and Polio, which have found their own individually conducted drives to be more successful.

Red Cross

LeRoy Mikels, who discussed Red Cross and cited figures which he said showed that it "cost" only 1.3 percent of the total goal to conduct the Red Cross campaign locally, whereas the Chest "cost" was 11.9 percent.

He was immediately corrected on this, however, Mikels was asked if the 1.3 percent cost included the salaries of Red Cross executive and office directors. He said it did not. Chest officials then pointed out that the Chest percentage does include total costs of administration (including the salary of the executive director) during the year. Actual cost of raising Chest funds through "campaign expenses" is only about 1.6 percent.

Summing up the present feeling of the Chest, Jesse S. Flory said that he felt Chest officials should let the public know that the Chest, as an organization, is willing to consider the wishes of the people in the community in the matter of a United Fund—but that the residents must let the Chest know if they favor the idea of one, unified fund-raising drive conducted during the year and including all health and welfare agencies in the United Fund.

The main question before local communities today, Flory said, is whether it is up to the communities themselves or to national agencies to say how drives for funds are to be carried out within individual communities.

Filing Damage Claim

TOKIO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Sergei Tichvinsky, chief of Russia's fishery mission, is filing an $83 damage claim with Japan's Foreign Office. He says that is what it cost to repair the Soviet Embassy after young Japanese rightists stormed the building Nov. 12.

A COMMUNITY'S UNITY is the cornerstone of success for Community Chest drives and for continued health and welfare service through Chest agencies, Chest and Council members were told last night. Here are principals at the meeting: Dr. LeRoy Koehler, main speaker; Martin Baldwin, retiring president; Holt Wyckoff, the new president; Mrs. Edward Knob, secretary and S. Clair Smith, second vice president. Not present for photo was Clifford Cramer, new campaign chairman and first vice president. (Staff Photo By MacLeod)

Bangor Industrial Group Founded

BANGOR—The Slate Belt Industrial Development Association last night was formally organized at a meeting at the Metropolitan Edison Co. offices, when 11 municipal divisions adopted articles of agreement and elected officers.

Deadlock Exists In Lions Club

LEO, THE LONG eared lion is dead.

However, members of the Stroudsburg Lions Club were assured last night that a successor will be found for Leo, who really was a rabbit, and not a lion at all.

Leo's successor will be given as a booby prize to the low-scoring team each week, during the club's current attendance contest.

At their dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud, the Stroudsburg Lions learned that Teams One and Four were tied for first place this week.

T. Manning Curtis, former president, suggested that a survey be made of club conditions and policies with a view to pepping up the organization's attendance record.

Agreement

Although the club has about 85 active members, attendance is not satisfactory at the weekly dinner sessions, the club agreed.

Tail Twister James Cummings, who has been hospitalized, was welcomed back last night. Congratulations were accorded William Thomas and his wife on the birth of a baby.

Thomas was in charge of last night's program and presented a motion picture lecture on the "Dew Line," which dealt with Early Warning Defense in the Arctic against potential enemies, Ben Coolbaugh was projectionist.

The next meeting will be District Governors Night. It was also announced that the club's directors will meet after the Nov. 27 meeting.

Photographer To Lecture

PHILLIPSBURG, N.J. — John W. Doscher, of South Woodstock, Vt., noted photographer and teacher of photography, will lecture on "Picture Construction," Friday at 8 p.m. in the Hillcrest Club, here. His program will be presented by the Hillcrest Camera Club.

Opens New Shelter

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has opened a new $250,000 Bronx shelter with accommodations for 800 animals.

Plans Made For 'Nite Of Stars'

PLANS were laid for the organization of the "Nite of Stars" variety show for the benefit of the Temple Israel Building Fund.

Arrangements were made at a meeting at the home of Sol Rothstein last night.

The committee, consisting of Herman Lax, chairman; Ben Howitt, Rothstein, Jerry Jacobs, Joseph Kushner, Bernice Pollan and Rita Katz, settled on the date of the show as Feb. 6, a date which was cleared by Dr. Earl Groner, superintendent of schools, for the use of Stroudsburg High School.

Instructions

The well known Broadway firm of artists' representatives, Burke and Roth, have been contacted with the purpose of putting together a star-studded revue, using performers recruited from theater, night club, television and

Board Members

Board members, in addition to the officers, will be Bernard Parsons, East Bangor; Richard Bozuto, Roselo; Clayton Shimer, Washington Township; Walter Albert, Plainfield Township; Fred Heinsohn, Portland; Enos Beers, Lower Mount Bethel Township; Harry Bonser, Lower Mount Bethel Independent District; John T. Dalry, Pen Argyl, and Merlin Tucker, Bangor.

The articles of agreement were prepared by Atty. Richard Kitto, Pen Argyl, assisted by Atty. Philip Ruggiero, Sullivan Cistone and Alfred Nittle, all of Bangor, and James Charron, Wind Gap.

The association outlined initial plans for a drive for funds to secure new industry for the Slate Belt, beginning probably in January. It also established a $5 membership fee. This money will be used for the organization's operational expenses.

Hospital Notes

Admissions

Taylor Lacey, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Margaret Beaver, East Stroudsburg; Donald Snyder, Stroudsburg, RD 2; Irene Horn, Bangor, RD 2; Miss Betty West, Marshalls Creek; Lee Shook, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Cathryn Scanlon, Stroudsburg; James Carr, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Helen Fehnel, Stroudsburg; Ernest Arnold, Stroudsburg; Henry Fellers, Buck Hill Falls.

Discharges

Mrs. Ethel Smith and daughter, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Shirley Fish and daughter, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Betty Harris and son, Bushkill; Mrs. Anna Deiter and son, East Stroudsburg; Philip Kerr, Staten Island, N.Y.; Mrs. May Hall, Stroudsburg; Janice Young, East Stroudsburg; Nevin Hummel, Cresco; Mrs. Laura Terboss, East Stroudsburg; John Butz, Jr., Bethlehem; Mrs. Rose Vittori, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Robert Shiffer, East Stroudsburg.

Official Date

Listed For Dance

DATE of the Sadie Hawkins dance to be held in the East Stroudsburg High School gym is Friday, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m., rather than this Friday as reported in this paper yesterday.

The dance is being sponsored by the school band for the benefit of the uniform fund.

radio.

Specific instructions were given to Roth, president of the agency, by Lax, to the effect that "We want this show to be bigger and better than the last two shows you put together for us in the Stroudsburgs." Lax admitted it was a tall order because the two previous variety shows under the sponsorship of Temple Israel were standing-room-only sellouts, but he received assurances from Roth that the "Nite of Stars" would be the best one yet, with an outstanding master of ceremonies and top flight artists from every field of the theater.

On the basis of the arrangements made, tickets were ordered printed by the committee and the enthusiastic members started the ball rolling on the third edition of the "Nite of Stars" variety revue.

Principals Condemn School Damage

PRINCIPALS of both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools yesterday issued a joint statement condemning damages or defacing to school property and grounds allegedly committed by students carried away in their Thanksgiving Day football game enthusiasm.

The statement follows:

Wording

"This past weekend the high school properties of Stroud Union and the East Stroudsburg Area have been defaced or damaged, presumably by students whose enthusiasm about the Interboro football game has gone out of bounds. On Monday both of the undersigned made it clear to the student body in our respective schools that such foolish and wanton acts, if continued, could lead only to eventual ending of games between the boroughs.

"We deplore the kind of rivalry that becomes so intense that 'spirit' must be shown by costly marring or damaging of our schools. We ask the parents of all children who attend the schools in our two boroughs and all 'fans,' no matter what the age, to take steps to prevent these unpleasant acts and to keep enthusiasm within the limits of good sportsmanship."

Signed:

RALPH O. BURROWS, Principal, East Stroudsburg High School.
ALFRED W. MUNSON, Principal, Stroudsburg High School.

Tax Forms Near Ready

FEDERAL income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns will be available about Dec. 3 in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys and other professional personnel who need advance copies, the District Director of the Scranton Office of the Internal Revenue Service announced yesterday. A few advance sample copies for study are available now.

Individual taxpayers on record will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mails on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January, according to the director.

Few Changes

There are very few changes in the form other than minor revisions for clarity and simplification. The instruction booklet which accompanies it has been changed, however, to provide a line-by-line series of explanations, keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

New type-faces have been used in both form and booklet and should, with the simplified treatment and explanations, make preparation of a return much easier than in past years.

The Internal Revenue Service will sponsor the printing of 185 million copies of Form 1040 and 61 million of Form 1040A, the simplified punch-card for incomes of less than $5,000.

Members of professions requiring advance copies of forms should write the District Director of Internal Revenue, Post Office and Courthouse Building, Scranton 14, for study samples immediately available or bulk shipments after Dec. 3.

Seven Refugees Coming To Stroudsburgs

SEVEN European refugees—including a widow and her three children from Poznan, Poland—are expected to arrive in the Stroudsburgs before Christmas.

Right now, three local churches are busily engaged finding homes and jobs for these people, who are coming to America with the help of the World Council of Churches and Church World Service.

Stroudsburg Methodist Church is sponsoring the family from Poznan, scene of the recent violent anti-Communist uprisings.

Germany

A young man from Amsterdam, and another from Heidelberg, Germany, will come here with the help of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, while a youth from Stuttgart, Germany, will come under the auspices of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church here.

The 43-year-old Polish widow, Edith Roy, now is in a refugee center in Bremen, Germany, along with her two sons, Guenther, 16, and Dieter, 15, and her 11-year-old daughter, Christine.

Rev. Roger C. Stinson, pastor of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, said he has received word from the Methodist Commission on Overseas Relief that the Polish family would arrive here before Christmas.

Mrs. Roy, a former telephone operator in Poznan, spent sometime in East Germany before she and the children escaped into the western sector, Mr. Stinson disclosed.

Meanwhile, St. John's Church is making plans for the arrival of Gerhard Kleih, 24-year-old interior architecture student from Stuttgart.

Gerhard, who listed cabinet-making as his secondary occupation, will have a job awaiting him here, according to Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, St. John's pastor. He will live on Ann St.

"He speaks only German," said Mr. Wohlsen, "but he's learning English now."

Hospital

Harry J. Smith, superintendent of General Hospital, said he's hoping that 26-year-old Guenther Herz of Heidelberg, will be able to work in the laboratory at the hospital.

Guenther speaks English and French, as well as German, and has studied theology and medicine. During his six-years' study of medicine, Guenther worked part-time as a salesman, waiter and "telephoneist." He is especially interested in the field of public health.

A refugee from the Eastern Zone of Germany, he is "well adapted to the American way of life," according to information supplied by the World Council of Churches.

Johannes Weisel, 22, of Amsterdam, is being relocated here with the help of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Rev. John A. Bollier, pastor, said Johannes is a war victim and was evacuated from his home town during a period of famine.

Described as a "keen, intelligent young man," Johannes is a professional steward and hopes to find work in a restaurant upon his arrival here.

Centenary To Visit Stroudsburg

HACKETTSTOWN—Among the numerous tours by The Centenary Singers of Centenary College for Women, is a tour of the Stroudsburg area on Feb. 14.

George Gaisz, Director of Choral and Instrumental Music announced today that The Singers will perform at Stroudsburg High School. This tour is one of several made each season throughout eastern United States.

We should all be prepared when the time comes — make your selection of a suitable Memorial now!

Pennsylvania's Hunting Season For Bears, One Week In Length, To Open On Monday

PENNSYLVANIA'S week-long Nov. 24, bear hunters will have the woods to themselves. Squirrel, turkey and grouse shooters who, bear hunters claimed, interfered with their sport will be absent from the scene.

If nature provides a tracking snow, against which black bears show up well, indications are the 1956 season will be a successful one. Another advantage of a white background is that it offers a better opportunity to judge the size of the animal, therefore less likelihood of shooting a cub.

To be legal game, a bear in Pennsylvania must be over one year old. An individual hunter may take one bear in the season, a party of three or more persons, two bears. Automatic, semi-automatic or auto-loading guns of any kind are prohibited. Pump shotguns firing rifled slugs or pump-kick balls, also high-powered rifles, may be loaded to capacity in bear hunting.

MASONIC HALL — EAST STROUDSBURG

Hungary Proves Russia Unable To Sell Her Way Of Life To Other Peoples

If there is one lasting impression that has emerged from the Hungarian rebellion, aside from the brutal blood bath inflicted on the helpless nationalists, it is the fact that Communist Russia has failed miserably in selling its way of life to the satellite nations.

How else can one explain the little nation's courage in resisting the mightiest armed force in the world?

Underlying the revolt was the hope among most Hungarians that, coming on the heels of Poland's uprising, here was the opportune moment to touch off the spark that would lead to the overthrow of Communism as a system.

Russian treachery in promising to recognize the rebels and to withdraw its troops from Hungary silenced the opposition until such time as Soviet massed might could move in and put down the insurrection.

Even now, more troops and military equipment are being sent to Hungary by the Kremlin and thousands of young Hungarians have been rounded up and shipped by freight car to Russia, where presumably they will be put to work in slave labor camps.

This in the wake of the slaying of thousands of brave Hungarians who dared resist foreign domination would seem enough to still even the stoutest hearts. But once an oppressed populace has united in the fight for freedom, nothing short of death can take away their will to win that precious right.

Hungary has been put under Russia's ruthless thumb once again. But she will rise again some day in opposition to the totalitarian domination. The same will be true perhaps in other satellite nations and possibly in Russia itself.

What part the free world will play in liberating these enslaved peoples can only be guessed at, because of the danger of setting off a nuclear war, but it is certain that more than moral support is necessary.

Out of the Hungarian rebellion should come the very real warning to the so-called neutral nations that you can't accept Russia's word at face value nor can a people be forced to adopt her ideology. Countries that are sitting on the fence should move promptly in the direction of those nations who recognize freedom for all people. To do otherwise may prove suicidal for themselves—and the world.

Americans Have Many, Many Things For Which They Should Be Thankful

Every year at this time, Americans give prayerful thanks to the Lord for the bountiful harvests and for other blessings bestowed upon them.

And every year, since the first Thanksgiving Day 335 years ago, Americans have found new and more reasons to offer their humble thanks.

Today, as world tensions mount, we find many, many new reasons to express the deep sense of gratitude and reverence to Almighty God which is a basic part of the American way of life.

Through the grace of God, we have been a favored nation down through the years. When great wars ravaged other lands we were spared foreign attack and invasion. Our material wealth is unsurpassed anywhere. Our liberties are almost unbounded—we have freedom of expression and thought, worship as we choose, come and go as we like. Our prosperity has stretched down through the decades since that first Thanksgiving Day in Plymouth in 1621. We have become the larder of the world, all because a kind and provident God has seen fit to favor us.

As a free nation, we are naturally deeply concerned about the fate of the millions of enslaved peoples who have much less to be thankful for than the least fortunate of us. Our concern extends, too, to the godless countries of the world, because we know full well they cannot long endure.

It seems to follow, therefore, that this Thanksgiving Day will find Americans of all faiths giving thanks for much more than abundant harvests. There is comfort in knowing we can offer prayers of thanks for many other things—including the privilege of asking the Almighty to release from their bonds the people who are enslaved.

George Sokolsky Says...

Nasser's Position Consolidated As NATO Is Weakened Virtually Beyond Redemption

NATO is an alliance among nations, the principals of which are Great Britain, France and the United States.

That alliance is now very sick and may die because of the Middle East fiasco. The blame is not easily fixed, although the tendency in Europe will be to blame the United States and in India to praise Eisenhower for it.

The official American view is that Great Britain and France never notified the United States that they intended to start a police or any other action against the Soviet puppet, Nasser. If it is true that the United States never knew anything about the action of Israel or the action of Great Britain or France, or the Soviet half-billion dollar build-up of arms in Arabian countries, then there is something very wrong with American intelligence and both the State Department and the CIA need to explain how it happens that they can neither see nor hear what is going on in areas which they are supposed to be watching punctiliously.

On the other hand, both Great Britain and France recognize that they have been let down by the United States. To them NATO is a one way street which exists only to serve American interests and further, that the United States does not always know what American interests are but sometimes follows a blind, doctrinaire pacifism which causes it to be so afraid of war that its timidity could bring on a war.

At any rate, American support of Nasser against Great Britain, France and Israel has been as astonishing as it would have been if the Roosevelt Administration had supported Hitler against Western Europe. At any rate, it is not to be expected that the British or French people will ever understand why the United States should favor a Soviet puppet against its closest allies, and nobody does understand it, including most Americans who feel that they have not been kept informed by their government.

The word, support, may sound strong, but it is difficult to find a softer yet equally accurate word. For what American action has actually achieved is that Nasser's position has become consolidated while NATO has been weakened practically beyond redemption; the United Nations was given an opportunity to display a moral cowardice vis-a-vis Soviet Russia which will not be forgotten by that country, particularly after it had engaged in a blood-bath in Hungary without censure, correction or reprisal. The United Nations has been petulant about Egypt and craven about Hungary. It is impossible to respect a craven body.

The countries in the United Nations which abstained from voting for or against the United Nations resolution ordering Soviet Russia out of Hungary are: Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Jordan, Libya, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. These names need to be remembered.

Had they voted in favor of Soviet Russia, it might have been assumed that they were forced to take a stand because of some treaty or partnership with the Russians. But they abstained. They were afraid to vote for or against. They were afraid to be identified on a moral issue. They were craven, cowardly and in fear. Is the peace of the world to depend upon such countries?

What it amounts to is that the United Nations is not maintaining the peace of the world. It has become a center of intrigue, a dangerous Tower of Babel which runs interference but achieves no positive results. It will be said that the United Nations Organization delayed war in the Middle East; it will not be said by anybody that the United Nations Organization delayed or impeded murder in Hungary.

And several years from now when the world still has to deal with the barbarous dictator of the Arab world, the man who believes in militarism as a faith and says so, what will the United Nations be able to say in its defense then? It will be too late, as it was too late about Hitler in 1939 and too late about Stalin in 1945.

Why is it that the West is always too late? Why is it that the West did not know that Soviet Russia was establishing a military base in the Sinai Peninsula? What do our representatives do in the countries to which they are accredited? Do they do anything?

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

Pumpkin Pie Is Honest Symbol Of Harvest's End

There is one natural beauty left in an over-contrived world—the pumpkin pie. Needing no adornment, its essential qualities speak for themselves. Two good ladies once got into a frightful row over the question—should cream be whipped off plain? Actually, they were fretting their pretty heads over a question with-out consequence. Should false eyelashes have rhinestones? Should the cream be fluffed up and sugared and flavored? Does it really matter, if the pie be as succulent as deft hands can make it?

Except for food editors, what rash individual would dare go on record with a favorite recipe for pumpkin pie? (Too much allspice, friend.) At home the Thanksgiving pie was always the same—and perfect. Mother knew the secret of getting the crust to bake crisply right along with the sweet pumpkin filling. She used a mixture of brown and white sugar, endless kinds of spices, plenty of eggs and thick cream to thin the fragrant mixture. Brimmed to the very top of a deep pie tin, carried gently to the oven, the pumpkin pie baked to its supreme content on Thanksgiving's early morn.

Somewhere between the bright orange of the raw fruit and deep brown of cinnamon, a dull golden color emerged in the finished masterpiece—blending all the warm tones of fallen leaves and sunlight. Flecked upon its shiny surface were faint touches of caramelized sugar, around its edge was a slight separation from the braided crust—proudly independent in its glory of self-contentment.

There were as many opinions about how this delectable pie should be eaten as there were guests. The aunts rather leaned to glibly whipped cream to top it with—but each insisted on varying amounts. The uncles felt strongly that rich thick cream was in itself a triumph not to be fussed over by zealous cooks and flying egg-beaters and vanilla extract. The cousins, confused by these differences, were apt to try both methods and wonder if there would be enough pie for an evening snack. At which time they would eat it plain.

But the adornments were pale irrelevancies beside the simple, honest symbol of harvest's end, hard work done, bounty of the table—Thanksgiving. The feast's finale—so humble yet so splendid in its own right—needed no accompaniment to proclaim or enhance its quality.

In itself was completion, perfection—this old-fashioned pumpkin pie.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Boone Stated To Command American Mid-East Forces

Washington, Nov. 20—The Joint Chiefs of Staff are initiating a momentous military measure in the war-inflamed Middle East.

It's a unified command for all American fighting forces there. Stated for this key post is Admiral Walter F. Boone.

California now commands U.S. naval forces in the Mediterranean and Eastern Atlantic, from his headquarters at Naples on the heavy cruiser POCOON.

Main factor behind the joint Chief's plan is continued Russian infiltration in this crucial strategic area.

Numerous reports of these sinister operations are pouring in from Intelligence and other sources. They indicate there has been no real lessening of the war-breeding menace of Red "volunteers." In fact, this grim danger may be even greater.

The Kremlin is definitely using the cease-fire to further tighten its coils on Egypt and Syria. In effect, these Arab countries are virtual Soviet puppets.

Major combat elements that will comprise the new unified command are:

Navy—The powerful Sixth Fleet and various reinforcing destroyer and other units, for an overall strength of more than 40 fighting ships; 8 of them aircraft carriers. Also a strong and mobile Marine force, all under the immediate command of Admiral Charles R. Brown.

Air—The 17th Airforce, with headquarters at Wheelus Field, Tripoli, and a total strength of more than 20 bomber and fighter-interceptor wings. This huge and far-flung Airforce, approximately one-seventh of U.S. combat air power, is commanded by Lieutenant General William Turner.

Army—The Southern European Task Force of 8,000 highly-trained and specially-equipped commando-type troops. Commanded by Brigadier General Harvey G. Fischer, with headquarters at Leghorn, Italy.

At present all these elements operate more or less separately. They are tied in only at the Joint Chiefs' level in Washington. The new plan would unite them under the command of Admiral Boone. As head of a Middle East unified command, Boone would report directly to the Joint Chiefs.

Similar unified commands exist in the Pacific under the Navy; in Alaska under the Air Force; in Europe under the Army; and in the U.S. under the Air Force.

Allied military and intelligence authorities are now strongly convinced that Gamal Nasser is completely under Russian domination and no longer free to pursue an independent course, even if he wanted to. One detailed report describes the Egyptian dictator as a "Communist captive living in constant terror of either being killed or kicked out, or both."

The shaky rulers of Syria, and to a lesser extent those of Jordan, are portrayed as in the same desperate plight.

These conditions are being exploited to the utmost by Russia. It is using them particularly to prepare the way for large numbers of Red "volunteers" whenever the Kremlin decides to resort to them.

That's why the Joint Chiefs want a unified command for all U.S. forces in the Middle East to be ready for any eventuality there.

It could happen any day. Note—Admiral Boone was born in Berkeley, Calif., attended Stanford University before going to Annapolis, and became a pilot in 1926, graduating at the head of his class at the Pensacola Fla., Naval Air Station. In World War II, he commanded the carrier YORKTOWN in attacks on Okinawa and Japan.

Front Flashes — Yugoslavia offered 5,000 fully-equipped troops for the UN police force in Egypt, but only 700 (one battalion) were accepted. . . . The Middle East crisis has not affected one top-level Army project. This is an order for all senior commanders to attend a conference in the Pentagon on December 3—a few days following the traditional Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia. Setting this meeting for that date enables the generals to go to the game on travel vouchers. . . . National security expenditures for the first three months of the current fiscal year (July, August, September) lagged $100,000,000 behind the same period last year. The 1956 total was $9,700,000,000 as compared to $10,100,000,000 in 1955. National security spending includes all outlays for the armed forces, foreign military air, defense stockpiling and the Atomic Energy Commission. Most of the decrease was due to heavy cutbacks in stockpile buying and foreign military aid. The Joint Congressional Atomic Committee is checking on information that Atomic Commission spending also was held down. Joint Committee men want to know what for and why.

Bob Clark has been telling you all about the game on the sports pages in recent days. He's been busy telling you what might happen and what has happened in past years.

But, the truly outstanding thing about the contest is the fact that nobody knows exactly what will happen.

Every bit of practice and every bit of game activity thus far this season goes out the window with tomorrow's tussle. Nothing that has happened prior to this contest means a thing.

All the color won't be on the playing field—not by a long shot. There will be the bands, cheerleaders and the guy who puts his dough on the line for admission.

There's the screaming kids, the proud father and mother, teachers and the neighbor who's on hand to cheer for the kid down the street.

But, probably even more colorful is the old grad—the guy who never gives up and takes defeat even tougher than death.

Present in the returning graduates is the desire to win and the even more severe desire to boast about the kids who are currently carrying the banner of the Cavaliers and Mountaineers.

Fans in the stands will be giving out with everything in the power—just as the kids on the field.

This is a local contest. We know the kids playing. We know the coaches and we know just how much the contest means to each individual involved and each person in the stands.

In past good sportsmanship has prevailed—regardless of the result.

I know it will continue tomorrow.

building 16 atomic power plants, costing $125 million and producing well over a million kilowatts of electricity. The Atomic Energy Commission also is planning to build 10 experimental plants.

Not all of these projects will be launched in 1957, of course, but many of them will take shape within the next year.

Peaceful Atom Plan Develops

By Central Press

Washington — Great strides in the development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes are expected to be made during 1957. This reflects President Eisenhower's desire to see his "atoms-for-peace" program pursued in every possible manner.

Utilities concerns, manufacturing companies and engineering enterprises are planning atomic projects. Expenditures for research and development, totaling $60 million this year, are due to be at least doubled next year.

Under proposals already firmed up, utilities companies expect to

Regulations Governing Adoption Of Children Through Aid Societies Being Liberalized

GRADUALLY the regulations governing adoption of children through Children's Aid Society are being liberalized.

During the past year the State society, working with county Children's Aid Societies such as Monroe County's, has conducted a thorough study of the whole adoption procedure.

Yesterday at a board meeting of Children's Aid of Monroe County, members heard a discussion of two new steps which will make adoption processing less restrictive on both local and State levels.

The first of these is a proposal by CAS of Pennsylvania that the executive secretary of county boards be authorized to act for the board in cooperation with the board president in expressing approval of specific adoption applications when the local board is not in session or there is to be no monthly meeting. This would prevent, locally, the necessity of withholding approval of an adoption application for nearly two full months (as in the case of the Winter months when there is no board meeting in December) or in some cases for longer (such as the Summer when the CAS board does not meet for two full months).

The second effort to liberalize adoption rules in a proposal to make the local board executive secretary the agent of the State CAS at the final hearing on adoption in local courts. Until now—if the proposal is approved by all county agencies—it was necessary for a State CAS representative to attend the final hearing. Allowing the local executive to serve for the State CAS would cut down on unnecessary travel time, expense payments and the amount of time to be expended by the CAS official in getting to the local court and waiting to testify in the hearing.

Local board members approved resolutions favoring both moves. They also praised the State CAS for its study of the needs for removing some restrictions in adoption procedure.

Mrs. Donald Gilpin, board president, announced the names of board members who will serve on a special committee to attend a meeting arranged by the Pennsylvania Citizens Association (both Children's Aid and PCA are member agencies of the Monroe County Community Chest) on Nov. 29 in Allentown.

Purpose of the PCA-sponsored meeting, which is being held in conjunction with the State Department of Welfare, is to explore provisions of the new reimbursement regulations covering Federal funds to the State for distribution to counties.

Members of the local board committee will be: Mrs. Gilpin, Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, Mrs. Frank Patterson Jr., Miss Elizabeth Martin, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler and Detleff A. Hanson. Other board members were also invited to attend.

Mrs. Jean Albert, board executive secretary, reported that Mrs. Gerry Singer has been employed as the new office secretary at CAS headquarters.

Mrs. Gilpin noted that two women's organizations have offered to support projects for Children's Aid Society wards during this year. They are the Junior Women's Club which will give a gift to each child at Christmas time purchased from funds the club will receive through its annual Christmas season dance and the Stroud Community Club which again will give each CAS ward a one-dollar bill on his or her birthday. These special gifts to the children are voluntarily undertaken by the two organizations as an extra gesture to children in foster homes. Board members praised both groups for their efforts in the past and for their continued support of an "extremely worthwhile project."

Mrs. Albert reported that four new applications for child care or placement were received during the past month. All are in the process of being cared for, she said.

Tobyhanna To Increase Water Rates

TOBYHANNA—John Stapt, of Harrisburg, president of the Tobyhanna Water Co., has advised local water consumers that it intends to increase its rates Jan. 1, 1957, subject to Public Utility Commission approval of the new tariff schedule filed with PUC.

Exact amount of the rate boost depends on the number of water-consuming devices utilized by the consumer.

Long Period

Stapt pointed out there has been no increase in rates since 1936. He cited expenses such as rebuilding the reservoir and replacing a deep-well pump as unusual ones which had to be met.

The company, which is under the local management of Joseph A. Pope, is replacing several hundred feet of mains on Mill St. The work is being performed by Lutz and Sons, of Mount Pocono, and Mike Wash, local plumbing contractor.

Lancaster Cattle

LANCASTER, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cattle 200 steers and feeder steers 16.00 to 18.50, good and choice stock steers, 21.25. Calves 25, good and choice yearlings 21.00 to 27.00, prime 27.50 to 31.00. Hogs 25, no price trend indicated. Sheep 25, no sales.

Everything's New including the View

in each '57 Buick—SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER

WHEN we tell you the 1957 Buick is new, we're not kidding.

Because we don't mean just new this or new that. We mean new everything.

We mean everything you can't see, as well as everything you can.

And even the "seeing" is new from both the front seat and the rear seat—for the new, wider, rakishly angled panoramic windshield with its 200 more square inches of glass area widens the forward view of all passengers.

Take other examples.

Its styling is new. Never before have you seen a Buick like this one—sleek and stunning, and low as a cat-crouch.

Its engine is new. Never has any Buick boasted so big, so powerful, so obedient an engine as the purring V8 engine that gingers every '57 Buick.

Its performance is new—and right here

we mean new like nothing else you ever experienced before.

For now, with Buick's new record horsepower, there's a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's so instant in action, so vividly responsive, so smooth and flexible and full-torque throughout the entire "Drive" range—the need for "Low" is virtually eliminated.

But there's even more than all this to the newness of every '57 Buick—SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

There's a completely new chassis that gives the car the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—for a steadier, safer ride. And a new kind of ball-joint suspension for surer handling, safer cornering, and a wonderful new leveled braking.

There are safety features galore—new safety-padded instrument panel, new dip-center safety steering wheel, new controls recessed out of harm's way—even an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that lets you know when you reach the miles-per-hour you've preset for yourself.

Of course, the only way to get the whole, new wonderful story is to take the wheel and let this big new car do its own talking.

And that's something we'll be most happy to arrange first chance you get. Come in today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

'Flying Saucers' Defy True Explanation By Scientific Minds

Keyhoe Plays Lone Hand In Study

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles on unidentified flying objects and the story of Howard Menger, High Bridge, N. J., man who claims to have seen and talked with craft and people from outer space.)

By Leonard Randolph
DO "FLYING SAUCERS" actually exist?

Fortunately the case indicating that they do is not finally decided by the stories of Howard Menger or George Adamski.

Lacking in objective, "scientific" detail, both the Menger and Adamski accounts often tend to frighten open-minded observers away by the very unbending fervor of their "philosophy." Menger and Adamski are like missionaries who have come into a foreign land without prior knowledge of the common language. They communicate, much of the time, but most of their communication is done with loaded, emotional words which are not required to bear the burden of objective belief.

This is not the case with Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, U. S. Marine Corps, retired. Keyhoe is very nearly the lone wolf in the "flying saucer" spectacle. He is, if nothing else a man dedicated to the pursuit of what he feels to be objective truth. He has spent the past five years of his life trying to track down the fleeting reality which the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country originally defied. In doing so he has met with some of the most monolithic official attitudes on record.

Keyhoe has written three books on the so-called "saucers." The first was "The Flying Saucers Are Real." It created a lasting impression on many unbiased observers. But it brought the whips of scorn down, dutifully and often, from official circles in the government at first. Undaunted, Keyhoe began to chip away—through articles in

Leonard Randolph
... The Author

True magazine—at the "official" attitude within the Air Force. He realized one thing, almost immediately. There were men in official circles who did not pretend to "understand" the growing number of saucer sightings and who did not dismiss the possibility that they were "real." He found a few, like himself, who believed they were actual craft.

His later research gave birth to a second book—"Flying Saucers From Outer Space." It is a carefully-documented volume which, on careful study, seems to skirt some of the major issues at hand. But its flaws decidedly are balanced by the "objective" style in which it is written and the honest-drawn suspense which makes it easy to read.

Of all the authors who have written about UFO, Keyhoe is undoubtedly the most diligent researcher. But Keyhoe makes no claims to having seen UFO up close, himself, and denies emphatically that he has ever "talked" with space people or seen them. This might seem, on the surface, to be a drawback. But to a man like Keyhoe, whose entire aim is to "get at the bottom" of UFO sightings and attempt to show the objective face of a problem before us, it is the only logical approach.

By writing in the manner of a scientist, for the most part, Keyhoe succeeds in giving a step by step, trial and error view of the evolution of both "flying saucers" in our existence and of our attitudes toward them.

Yesterday's article pointed out that these attitudes have changed, subtly, over a period of time. Where "saucer stories" were once treated lightly and alleged observers were patently ridiculed, there is a marked "wait and see" quality in much of what has been written more recently.

A large part of this change can, I think, be attributed to Keyhoe's persistence in the matter of UFO—and in the clumsy, often infantile contradictions released through official and semi-official statements.

Keyhoe traces the origin of the name "flying saucers" to Ken Arnold, a private pilot in Idaho on June 24, 1947. Arnold said that, while flying near Mount Rainier, Washington, he sighted "nine huge, gleaming discs, racing along in a column. He estimated their size at 100 feet in diameter, the speed at more than 1,200 miles per hour." Arnold said they were like "saucers" and, much to the delight of cartoonists, gag-men and writers, a new national humor-craze was born.

For any serious study of the whole issue, Arnold's terminology set UFO detection back far beyond rational recovery for many months. With or without cups, spilled coffee or hot-tempered women, the "saucers" were funny.

But the initial sighting was by no means extraordinary. In a matter of days, the number of "sightings" had grown to astonishing proportions. Some of these, Keyhoe admits freely, were "fakes." Yet, running parallel with every hoax there were clear, honest observations by men who had every reason to command the respect of the Air Force and of officials.

Most of these came — and continued to come — from commercial airlines pilots and Air Force jet pilots. These are men who are highly trained in their jobs, far, they had won the argument, about and who approached the whole concept of telling authorities what they had seen with an ingrained veteran's skepticism.

As the number of "sightings" grew it became imperative, officials thought, that the "saucer" theory be "debunked." It is in their efforts to "explain away" incidents which have been recorded by pilots, by radar and by scientists that both the Air Force and astronomers have tripped over their own anxiety.

The biggest "debunking job" came from Dr. Donald Menzel, a Harvard astronomer, who explained away all saucer sightings as natural phenomena in the skies—sundogs, light reflections or illusion. Other debunkers have been: Dr. Liddel, Navy scientist, who claimed that saucers were simply the Navy's "Sky Hook" balloons; Henry J. Taylor, a news commentator, who claimed that the saucers were really a new U.S. "secret weapon"; U.S. News and World Report, a magazine, which claimed the saucers were secret Navy weapons, one a jet-propelled disc-shaped plane, the XF-5U.

All of the debunkers were in turn debunked and refuted by the Air Force and the Navy. Menzel's theories could explain a few of the sightings. So could Liddel's. But neither of them separately or both together could account for more than a small percentage of the total sightings reported.

As for Taylor's story, it was debunked in rapid-fire order and without any qualification whatever. The U.S. News story was nothing "new" to Keyhoe or officials. The XF-5U was not only "old stuff" but it had been a prop-driven experimental model which had never actually gone into production.

In analyzing the corner into which the Air Force was being pushed by the "well-meaning" but misinformed "debunkers," Keyhoe makes this highly pertinent observation:

"Each time, in slapping down a debunking answer, the Air Force had to say publicly what the saucers are NOT. Each time it was pushed closer to the fateful admission of what the saucers are. To some in the Pentagon, silence still seemed the only safe course, until there was absolute proof that the saucers were not hostile. So far, they had won the argument.

But they couldn't walk that dangerous tightrope much longer."

Yet "the tightrope" as Keyhoe terms it, is still there. It is there, by indirection, through the massive collection of half-informative but never totally clear statements which have been made about "saucers."

Keyhoe's relationship with officialdom has undergone nearly as many fluctuations as published pronouncements have shown in their varied attitudes. After being met by blunt dismissal and silence at first, Keyhoe later was given access to hitherto top secret Air Technical Intelligence reports on many individual sightings.

Although the reader may reserve personal judgment on UFO, he will find Keyhoe's discussion of these reports highly informative and remarkably clear-headed. There is little gobbledygook in Keyhoe's writing. Whether he is talking about the fragmentary reasonableness of the temperature inversion theory or the more imaginative "monster" story from Sutton, W. Va., Keyhoe generally sets down the "facts" as they are known to him before drawing any conclusion.

For this reason Keyhoe, more than anyone else now writing about UFO, is a recommended author for persons interested in the overall UFO controversy. Keyhoe's scorn is reserved primarily for what he feels has been a "snafu" on saucers in official levels and for the debunkers who, he says, have served only to mislead and confuse the public more.

He also has some unkind observations to make about the "space people" stories of George Adamski and Frank Scully, however. Keyhoe feels that these accounts have run the narrow ridge between fact and fantasy.

Yet his own conclusion that the UFO are real, controlled craft of some kind has been similarly described by the "debunkers."

In studying the story told by Howard Menger, the reader of this series will have arrived at his own conclusions. Some persons have maintained that the whole body of UFO sightings is a sign of mass schizophrenic tendencies in our national civilization.

To this psychiatric condemnation of such stories may be added one further comment, however.

At present the UFO story is itself on a "split level" with all the outer markings of a schizoid temperament. When each new "fantastic" story is told there is an immediate head-over-heels tumble to rationalize or "debunk" it out of existence. In many cases (such as Menger's theory) the "explanation" turns out to be considerably less than the true scientific answer.

As a nation we must consider two elements in "flying saucer" sightings. One is the precise answer to what makes so many people in widely-separated geographical areas "see things" and what makes scientific instruments such as radar record a solid object in complete correlation between ground and air-station radar sets if the "things" are only "illusory."

Secondly we will have to learn, sooner or later, what compels authorities to try so relentlessly to "debunk" story after story only to be forced partially to back down a few days later.

If there is schizophrenia in "saucer stories" there may be an equal, and far more formidable, psychotic compulsion in our blanket refusal to analyze UFO seriously and rationally until the answers have been found.

AAUW Panel On Careers At PTA Meet

Brooksideville—The responsibility of teachers and parents of teenage children in selecting their proper profession or career was the theme of a panel discussion at Chesterhill School Parent Teachers Association on Thursday night.

Three members of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women participated in the panel. Miss Eloise Bryan, psychologist for the Stroud and Bangor schools, gave examples of how the home and parents are the most important basis in the development of the child.

Parents, she warned, should guard against trying to steer their children in the direction the parents wishes rather than toward the career that the child's own talents and interests indicate, and that they should not be in too much of a hurry to decide what their child should do.

Mrs. Arthur Ifft, speaking as a parent, said that parents are in a better position to help a child find out what he would like to do with his life because they know him best. However, in order to help, parents must know what they are talking about, before they give advice. Children want guidance, she said, and often criticize parents for not giving it.

Mrs. Charles Albert, executive director of the Children's Aid Society, spoke from the viewpoint of a social worker. In attempting to help people solve problems in living and in helping them to help themselves, the social worker can realize how much teenagers need stimulation and acceptance as individuals, the support, direction and limitations set up by parents.

Open house was held at 7:30 with parents and friends visiting the teachers in the classrooms. During the business meeting, it was reported that there are now 125 members. Parents were urged to attend the County PTA Council meeting on November 28.

The Band Parents Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer, announced plans for a dance and cake walk to be held Thursday, Nov. 21.

During the social hour refreshments were served. A ten pound turkey, donated to the PTA, was awarded as an attendance prize to Mrs. George Hafler.

Miss Walters Singing With Beaver Chorus

Jenkintown—Miss Nancy Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Walters, of 751 Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, is one of 95 Beaver College students selected to sing with the college glee club following the fall auditions. This will be her fourth year singing with the Beaver chorus.

The group opened its concert season singing at the Music Festival held on November 4 at the First Methodist Church, Germantown. Highlight of the season will be the combined concert with Lehigh University on March 9 at Beaver.

Miss Walters is a senior at Beaver and a member of the kindergarten-elementary education department. She is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School.

WCS Names Committees For Dec. Party

Mount Pocono—The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church named committees for their Christmas party to be held in the social rooms of the church on December 14 at 8 p.m. Secret pal names will be revealed. Those not having a pal are asked to bring dollar gifts for exchange.

The program committee will include Mrs. Alvah Merwin III, Mrs. E. O. Headrick, Mrs. Berne Cramer, Mrs. Brian Walker Jr., and Mrs. William Neward; the decorating committee: Mrs. Charles James, Mrs. Earl Dennis, Mrs. Alvin MacWilliams; the refreshment committee: Mrs. Berne Cramer, Mrs. Headrick, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Paul Courtright, Mrs. Alva Merwin, Mrs. Norman Fausen.

Mrs. Patrick Horgan presided at the November meeting with a good attendance and two visitors, Miss Dorothy Keen and Mrs. Thomas. Mrs. Florence McGargle led the devotion on the United Nations, and Mrs. Alvah Merwin spoke briefly on the same subject.

Two members were reported ill, Mrs. Homer Jones and Mrs. Berne Cramer. The parsonage committee reported that the parsonage kitchen remodeling and redecorating will soon be completed. Proceeds from the reading held Nov. 7 will be used in the parsonage repair fund.

Those wishing to furnish flowers for the altar in December were asked to notify Mrs. Earl Brook.

Acme Aux. Tonight

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Acme Hose Co. will meet in regular session on Wednesday, Nov. 21. Final plans will be made for the sauerkraut and pork supper to be served Thursday, November 22 at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Wedding Reception At Saylorsburg

Pen Argyl—A reception at the Saylorsburg Fire Hall, Saylorsburg, followed the wedding of Mary Grace Pezuto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasqual Pezuto, of Pen Argyl, to Hayden Florey Grube, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grube, also of Pen Argyl.

Rev. Donald Farrell performed the ceremony in St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Pen Argyl, on Nov. 10 at 11 a.m.

The bride wore a white satin gown appliqued with white velvet and her mother's wedding veil of lace and rhinestones attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried white gardenias, stephanotis and green leaves.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Betty Lou Vonnell, as maid of honor and by Miss Olivia Venzella and Miss Lucy Ardino, both of Pen Argyl. The maid of honor wore a rose taffeta gown and the bridesmaids blue taffeta and they carried white chrysanthemums and green leaves.

John M. Pezuto, brother of the bride, was best man and George Grube, brother of the bridegroom, of Palmer Township, and Leonard Romano, of Pen Argyl, were ushers.

Voncone Ruggiero, of Pen Argyl, was organist and Pauline Aulio, of Allentown, was soloist. After a wedding trip through the South, Mr. and Mrs. Grube are making their home in Pen Argyl where the bridegroom is employed by Harvey G. Dietrich Chevrolet Co. They are both graduates of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School.

WCTU Roll Call Meeting Hears Project Reports

The roll call meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church with Mrs. C. M. Sinclair in charge, of devotion on the Thanksgiving theme.

It was reported that the moving picture, "The Choice Is Yours" had been shown to approximately 1200 young people during the month of October. Members of the union also donated Christmas gifts to tubercular children who are patients at the Valley Forge Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Edward Smith presided over the roll call when a number of new members were received. Mrs. Clifford Cramer entertained the group by showing slides of her trip to England and Scotland the past summer. Mrs. A. L. Burrows and Mrs. R. C. Cramer were co-chairmen of the program committee.

The social committee included Mrs. Percy Marvin, Mrs. Ernest Werkheiser, Mrs. Fannie Kintner, Mrs. Edward Staples and Mrs. Chauncey Bensley.

Faithful Workers At Howerter's

Hamilton—The Faithful Workers Class of the Hamilton Union Sunday School met Thursday night at the home of the president, Lydia Howerter, Sciota. Blanche Slutter led the devotion.

A social hour followed the meeting with refreshments served. The attendance prize went to Bessie Metzgar. A Christmas party with exchange of gifts will be held December 11 at the home of Henrietta Hobbs.

Present for the meeting were Ida Dennis, Bessie Metzgar, Henrietta Hobbs, Blanche Slutter, Jennie Cortright, Emma Haney, Bertha Haney, Ruth Shoemaker with William Slutter and George Metzgar as visitors.

Miss Doris Jean Stine

Doris Stine Engaged To James Arnst

Announcement is made of the engagement of Doris Jean Stine, daughter of Mrs. Clair Stine and the late Clair Stine of Slateford, to James E. Arnst, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Arnst, 301 Henry St., East Stroudsburg.

Both Miss Stine and Mr. Arnst are graduates of East Stroudsburg High School. Mr. Arnst is employed by the DL and W Railroad.

Bangor VFW Aux. Makes Donations

Bangor—Contributions of $5 to the Scotland School for Christmas and of $25 to the Veterans Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, were approved by the Ladies Auxiliary of Dyle E. Bray Post 739, Veterans of Foreign Wars, during the regular session at the Jacksonian Democratic Club Monday.

Mrs. Laura Johnson, president, was in charge. Mrs. Berline Brittain and Mrs. Ida Hughes were reported ill. It was announced that Mrs. Jean Stecker, of Easton, 20th District president, will pay an official visit at the December meeting.

A Christmas party also was planned for the next gathering. There will be a covered dish supper and an exchange of 30-cent gifts.

Mrs. Margaret Reimel won the special prize. The winners in a Thanksgiving Day program, conducted by the auxiliary, also were identified. Sherwood Hoppel won a turkey; Mrs. Verlie Hughes, a duck; and Mrs. Clayton Ace, a chicken.

Koehler Cites Progress In Citizenship

Today's teachers and the subject matter both work toward preparing better citizens, Dr. LeRoy Koehler, president of State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg, told members of the Stroud Union High School Parent-Teachers Association at their meeting on Monday night in the high school auditorium.

He exploded the theory that teachers were better "in the good old days." In his years of experience in teaching teachers, he said, he is convinced that today's teachers are much better prepared and more skillful.

Subject matter also has improved, he said, particularly in relating learning to life. Taking as example the teaching of social studies, or history, he compared three phases in educational guides, or syllabi.

The 1919 syllabus was largely used as a guide for the elementary grades. It was full of stories exemplifying civic virtues but had little real substance. Teachers at that time did not have to take a single history course and students often resented the kind of subject matter.

The development of the 1932 syllabus, he explained was based on the "cycle" theory. Once every three years, the child in his studies would follow man from his origin to the present. In third grade, for example, the child would begin with the cave man, and in fourth and fifth follow him to the present, beginning again with the cavemen in sixth grade. The cycle is still followed to a limited extent.

However, at present there are two syllabi, one for the elementary grades, and 410 for the high school level. They are based on the idea of an ever-expanding community, he explained. The pupil begins his study of his home, his school, and progressing to the community, county, state, nation and world.

Specifically, the seventh grade studies backgrounds to American life and civics; grade 8, American history; grade 9, Pennsylvania history; grade 10, world history; grade 11, American history; and grade 12, problems of Democracy.

He emphasized the "social" education of the syllabus and the greater motivation for student work and research and defended the "unit" method of teaching related events in contrast to the chronological.

"We teach more history than we used to," he said, "and history is related to life. We are trying to make sensibly critical citizens and thoughtful citizens."

Robert Haigh, president, presided at the meeting. The next regular meeting will be held February 18.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Gratitude is one of the hardest emotions for the human heart to bear. It is not a pious Christian hope but a cold pragmatic fact that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

We grow very fond of people we do favors for, and feel a new warmth in our relationship. But the atmosphere changes when we are on the receiving end. We hate to be " beholden " to anyone. We may love the gift but regard the giver with the same embarrassment we feel for a bill collector, with an unrequited favor as much on our conscience as an unpaid bill.

Feeling that way about the relatively trifling gifts from fellow humans, it's no wonder that we are much more embarrassed in trying to thank God—whose great gifts include not only life itself but the capacity to enjoy its good things and the strength to bear its burdens and sorrows.

We get awfully busy with the tag ends of housecleaning, preparations for the Thanksgiving dinner, anything to keep us from coming face to face and saying "Thank you."

Yet how blind we are with a good example staring us right in the face. Here's Thanksgiving coming along at the very time that parents begin their Christmas shopping—their thoughts very much on what gifts will delight their children most.

Parents are not speaking unselfish hypocrisy but a very selfish truth when they say "I enjoy seeing the children get their gifts more than they enjoy the gifts themselves."

Mitten Tree Planned By Jr. Crusaders

Bartonville—Mr. and Mrs. David Ball, Bible Club teachers, led the devotional period when the Junior Crusaders, sponsored by the Crusader class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School, met at St. John's parish house on Friday night, November 16. A portion of Scripture was read by Kathryn Cyphers. Mrs. Ball told of missionary work in Africa and presented a flannelgraph study "The Manhood of Jesus."

Leo Frailey presided at the business session. A letter from Miss Mary Alleger, lay president of the church council, was read commending the Jr. Crusaders for their gift of hymnals to the church and Cary Cyphers for having repaired the old hymnals.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party on the next meeting night, December 21. It was decided that this year the members would not exchange gifts but instead bring gifts of clothing for the less fortunate. The idea of having a "mitten tree" was suggested and approved with the explanation that other gifts would also be acceptable. All families are requested to contribute something toward the refreshments for the Christmas party and all children of the community are invited to attend.

Games were played while refreshments were being prepared. Hostesses were Mrs. Claude Cyphers and Mrs. Fred Frailey.

Junior Crusaders attending were Anita Leach, Sarah Jane Cyphers, Kathryn Cyphers, Nancy Frailey, Cheryl Starnes, Bonnie Edinger, Sharon Edinger, Amy Young, Dawn Frailey, Mary Feitig, Sally Feitig, Eugene Learn, Carl Cyphers, Leo Frailey, Ronald Swink, Thomas Field, Larry Edinger, John Field and John Feitig. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. David Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field, Mrs. Earl Learn, Mrs. Claude Cyphers and Mrs. Beatrice Swink.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving and all of us have our very own special reasons for being thankful. In the main, we are thankful for big things—the American way of life... the roof over our heads... the meat, potatoes and bread on our tables when we congregate at meal time. We are thankful for our pay envelopes... for the bosses who put up with our human weaknesses and mistakes, and who remember us with kind words and silver dollars for jobs well done. We are thankful for each other... and thankful too that we individually have as few faults as we do, because there are so many opportunities to be weak and ineffective in this fast-moving, glib-thinking world of today.

Looking back over the years, I wonder actually just why I am thankful in lesser ways. Certainly I've fallen far short of the dreams I had some twenty years ago when I was starting out to earn my living. Where is the book I intended to write... that great American novel? Still in my head, where it will continue to be forever probably. Where are the home I hoped to own... the nest egg that was to be so securely tucked away for a rainy day... the knowledge I had intended to accumulate? Somehow they just aren't. But I am thankful. I am thankful for the snugness of my apartment, and the fact that with the passing months it is adapting itself more and more to my personality and mode of life. I am thankful that while I myself am not a likely candidate for a quiz program, I can listen to, and appreciate, the innumerable authoritative people who are. As for that rainy day nest egg, I'm happy that I have a brand new, long-handled umbrella, and that it's a pretty, heart-lifting shade of my favorite turquoise.

I am thankful, I find, for hundreds of little things... for the sunlight that falls with unexpected splendor through the clear aqua of the Italian decanters atop my bookcases... for the soft shren of the cherry table... for the occasional soul-stirring chords of music that come from the record player, and the laughter that bubbles unexpectedly when something mad-man-mad flashes onto the television screen. I am thankful for the crazy antics of Pete Wyckoff and Bud Altemus while I'm trying to type this column. Without Pete's crazy dialect and his tap dancing routine, the business of earning a living wouldn't be half so amusing. I am thankful to for Howard Menger of High Bridge, N.J., and the pleasant diversion afforded us by the "space ship's" visits it's gratifying to learn that the life on other planets may be devoted to peace and forbearance, as opposed to the international turmoil so common to Planet Earth. I am thankful, in a measure, for the unhappy moments I've known—the pain that's come my way, because it has been infrequent and has earned my complete confidence that a good doctor and a good hospital can comfort and heal; for the heart-break too of finding some friends false, because it has made me appreciate those who are not... and because my sense of loss has been balanced by the wonderful knowledge that no one is so important that one cannot go on alone, enriched by memories, fortified against heartache.

I am thankful for books... for concerts (and the tickets I'm given to them)... for the crazy styles that give us something to talk and complain about before we grudgingly accept them each season. I am thankful when the toast doesn't burn in the morning, despite the amazing temperament of my balky toaster... for the alarm when it awakens me to a bright world... and for the money homeowners have been able to save thus far on fuel this season. Thankfulness can be born of oh, so many things. I am thankful for the son who is making me a knick-knack shelf... for his brother who has an amazingly broad business sense... and for my little "Brownie" and the notes she writes me when I'm ill—for her first poem too, with its quaint misspelled words: "Ring the church bell for those who go to church; ring the bells of my heart (heart) and then sped to me. Then ring the bells again—Ring the bells."

Happy holiday!

'Big One' Gets Underway Tomorrow At 10 A. M.

Stroudsburg And Eastburg To Clash For 12th Time On Memorial Stadium Gridiron

TOMORROW AT 10 a.m. at Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, the "big one" will come off when Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg highs' elevens meet for the 12th time in a series dating back to 1945.

The Mountaineers, holders of a 7-3-1 edge in the annual classics, will wind up drills for the Thanksgiving Day battle, today at Gordon Giffels, while the Cavaliers go through their final paces at Memorial Stadium.

East Stroudsburg will swing into the contest sporting a 4-5 season record, while Stroudsburg will bring into the fray a 6-3 record.

Both teams will be at full strength when the opening whistle sounds. Hitherto ill halfback Roger Ray has rejoined his Cavalier mates and is expected to see a lot of duty and the formerly injured Mountaineer quarterback, Ron Stopp, who missed the Northampton game, also is a sure bet to open for Stroudsburg.

Seek 1st Since '51
Stroudsburg will be seeking its first victory in five years over an Eastburg team. Not since 1951 has a Mountaineer eleven come out on top in the classic. Last year—the only time in the five seasons—the fracas ended up in a 7-7 deadlock. Stroudsburg leads in the over-all series between the two schools, winning seven, losing three, and tying the '55 stalemate.

During the past season, East Stroudsburg gained victories over Pen Argyl, Slatington, Hellertown and Lehighton. The Cavaliers lost to Parkland, Wilson, Nazareth, Port Jervis and Bangor.

The Mountaineers picked up wins over Bangor, Slatington, Whitehall, Emmaus, Lehighton and Pen Argyl and dropped decisions to Northampton, Catasauqua and Palmerton.

Final For 19
The contest will be the final scholastic game for Mountaineers' Ron and Don Stopp, Doug Shook, Larry Buzzard, Jim Wallace, George Steinhauer, and Earl Truitt. Cavaliers playing their final school-boy game will be Dick Wolslayer, Woody Mosteller, Eric Neal, Frank Lupin, Jim Brimer, Bob Gordon, Harry Miller, Roger Strouse, Dave Hughes, Ed Yakencheck, Phil Reusswig and Ralph Carter.

In offense, the Cavaliers and Mountaineers use the T with variations on line tightness or splitting. Stroudsburg, basically, comes up with the 6-3-2 defense, while East Stroudsburg changes from a seven-man line to down to five, according to the situation at hand.

May Start Game
While last-minute changes may be made, it is expected that Kist and Whitehead will go with the following lineups:

For East Stroudsburg, Bob Gordon and Eric Neal will start at the ends; Ed Yakencheck and Doug Smith will man the tackles; Co-Captain Roger Strouse and Jim Brimer will be at the guards; and Dick Wolslayer will open at center.

Aside of junior Doug Smith, all of the other Cavalier starting line-ups are fourth-year boys.

Opening in Kist's backfield will be sophomore Charley Lupin at quarterback; Co-Captain Frank Lupin and Ralph Carter at the halfback posts and Don Miller at fullback. Miller is a junior.

Stroudsburg's probable starters on the line will be Doug Shook and Bob Kassay, a junior, at ends; Jim Wallace and Don Stopp at the tackles; Dick Reiger and Larry Besecker, both juniors, at guards; and Larry Buzzard at center.

The Mountaineer backfield will be composed of Ron Stopp at quarterback; Ron Phillips and Dick Cramsey, both sophomores, at halfbacks; and junior Bill Bolich at fullback.

May See Action
Also sure to see action for East Stroudsburg are halfback Corky Smith and Roger Ray, juniors; ends Woody Mosteller and Wes Werkheiser, guards Horace Cole and Jim Strunk, and fullback-linebacker Harry Miller.

Stroudsburg boys who might crack the lineup are guard Hyron Weaver; tackle Bob Coolbaugh; End Terry Bartleson; quarterback Dick Everett; halfbacks John Schoonover and Noel Campbell and fullback Earl Truitt.

45 Colleges Set For 5-Mile Run

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A total of 45 colleges have filed entries in the varsity five-mile championship cross country race of the ICAA, scheduled for Monday afternoon at Van Cortlandt Park.

The University of Pittsburgh will be the defender for the team championship. Michigan State was second to Pittsburgh last year, with St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, third, NYU fourth and Cornell fifth.

Other members who will present a strong challenge are Syracuse, St. John's of Brooklyn, Manhattan, Harvard, Army, Navy, Penn State, Notre Dame and Villanova.

Bryan '56 Champ

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., won the 1956 national auto racing championship with a 360-point margin over Pat Flaherty, the Chicago tavern owner who won the 500-mile Indianapolis race.

Ticket Booths Open 9 A.M.

ROBERT BURROWS, faculty manager of athletics of East Stroudsburg High announced that the ticket booths at Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, will open tomorrow at 9 a. m.

A few reserved seats will be on sale as well as general admission tickets. Burrows said that reserve tickets now out in stores and at the two schools will be called in this afternoon and put on sale tomorrow. There were only a limited number in both boroughs left last night.

Ray And Cole '57 Co-Heads Of Cavaliers

HALFBACK Roger Ray and guard Horace Cole were named co-captains of the 1957 East Stroudsburg High School football team at a squad meeting yesterday at the school.

Ray and Cole have been big cogs on the Cavalier eleven this past season. Ray pulling off long runs, and Cole playing fine defensive ball.

Both boys are neighbors, practically living side-by-side on Spring St., East Stroudsburg.

Kist Policy
The election of Cole and Ray follows a Jack Kist policy of naming next year's co-captains prior to the Cavaliers' game with arch-rival Stroudsburg on Thanksgiving Day.

The newly elected Cole and Ray will work with 1956 Co-Captains Roger Strouse and Frank Lupin in the Turkey morning skirmish with Stroudsburg.

New Football To Be Given Grid Victor

THE WINNER of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Thanksgiving morning classic will be on the receiving of a new football officially adopted by the National Professional Football League this year.

The ball, which will be used during the game, has been donated by Marty Baldwin, well-known sports figure and head of the Olympic Reconditioning Co., East Stroudsburg.

Also "up for grabs" at the tilt will be the Little Brown Jug, also an award of Baldwin, and the Daily Record State Belt-Pocono Four Trophy.

The Little Brown Jug has been in the hands of East Stroudsburg since 1952, while this is the first year The Daily Record award will be in circulation.

Point Spread
The Record Trophy, symbolic of the SB-P championship, may go to Stroudsburg since the system set up by the participating schools is based on the points spread system. If the won and loss records are identical.

However, if East Stroudsburg wins by a fairly large score, there is a possibility that the Cavaliers will also gain the Record award. Bangor High who plays Pen Argyl Thanksgiving also has an outside chance on the points spread.

Wins ERA Title In Pony Loop

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Keith Nicolls of Wellsville won the 1956 PONY Baseball League pitching crown with an earned run average of 1.76, according to official averages announced yesterday.

Nicolls, a eighthander, won 14 and lost six for a .700 won-lost percentage. Antonio Diaz, also of Wellsville, and Marty Stabner of Hornell beat him out in this department with 17-6 records for a .739 average.

Bob Mills of Olean was the league's only 20-game winner. His 20-9 record gave him an average of .689.

Brown Is Renamed

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20 (AP)—Joe L. Brown, 27, who brought back boom days to Forbes Field after Branch Rickey had been shunted to an advisory role, today was re-named general manager for 1957—and perhaps even longer.

3 Grid Newcomers

UNIVERSITY PARK—Three newcomers will bolster Penn State's 1957 football schedule. The three are Vanderbilt, William & Mary, and Marquette. The game with Vanderbilt will be the first.

Probable Starting Lineups For Mountaineers And Cavaliers

West Chester PFTC Kings; Warriors 2nd

JOHNSTOWN—West Chester is the undefeated 1956 champion of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Football Conference which came to a close last weekend.

In the season's final games Lock Haven walloped Mansfield, 33-7; East Stroudsburg tallied three times in final period to defeat Kutztown, 21-0; and Edinboro bettered California, 19-6. A Mansfield victory would have thrown the final standings into a two-way tie with West Chester and East Stroudsburg sharing the honors.

Top Scorer
George Dintman of Lock Haven set a conference record for the most points scored in one game by tallying four touchdowns against Mansfield. However, the Lock Haven back fell short by eight points of the new season's scoring record established by Jack Conner of Shippensburg. Conner talked 11 TDs and two extra points for 65 points in six conference games. Dintman tallied 10 TDs in six games. Bob Mosteller of the West Chester Rams was third in the scoring parade with six TDs and four extra points for 40 points in four games.

Golden Symbol Nears 'Crown'

EFFORT — Mrs. Constance Hubbard's Astolat Golden Symbol moved to within three points of a championship by gaining three points in the New Newark Kennel Club Show Sunday.

The shetland sheep dog won a first in the open male class, took winners and best of winners prizes in the New Jersey show.

Astolat Golden Banner gained a first place in the bred by exhibitor event, and Astolat Emblem Magie placed second in the open class and went on to reserve winners.

Also Gains First
Miss Ann Dudevick, of Mount Pocono, also captured a first in the shetland sheep category, via Cloud Crest's Sentinel's win in the American-bred class.

Henrietta Hobbs, of Soloto, took a third in the novice class with her "Lady Be Good," a large collie.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 20 (AP)—The Florida State University athletic committee voted unanimously today against accepting an invitation to play in Orlando's Tangerine Bowl New Year's night.

Burrows, 5 Others Renamed To PIAA District 11 Unit

TAMAQUA—Ralph O. Burrows, East Stroudsburg High School principal, and five other men were re-elected to the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association District 11 committee at a banquet-meeting of the area group here Monday.

Burrows, who is chairman of the District 11, announced that a re-organization session of the newly named officials will be held Jan. 1. Others renamed with Burrows were Joseph Mamana, Easton; Bruce Henninger, Pine Grove; Charles Murray, Weatherly; Herman Snyder, Slatington, and James Reese, Allentown.

Paul Troxell, Bethlehem, and Lloyd Martz, Pottsville, also were re-elected officials and school directors' representatives, respectively.

Card Quarterback Pleads For Chance

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Quarterback Lamar McLean today pleaded for another chance with the Chicago Cardinals after the club had indefinitely suspended him for "insubordination" and fined him $3,000—largest assessment in National Football League history.

The Cardinals said they planned the former University of Arkansas star with the fine after he told his teammates that he "didn't feel like playing today" at the outset of the game with the Steelers in Pittsburgh Sunday.

Phils' Ennis To Cards For Repulski, Morgan

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—Outfielder Del Ennis, the backbone of the Philadelphia Phillies' attack ever since he joined the club 11 years ago, today was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for outfielder Rip Repulski and utility infielder Bobby Morgan.

Also approved was an amendment concerning the eligibility in an area of a boy whose parents are separated and live in different districts, setting up transfer repercussions.

New Ruling
A new ruling prohibits basketball training or practice in separate groups at any place previous to Nov. 1.

Burrows presided at the session which also heard brief talks by Mark Funk, PIAA executive director; and Dr. Frank Maguire, of East Stroudsburg, commissioner of officials.

Ennis, 31, batted .260 last year, driving in 95 runs, hitting 26 home runs and collecting 164 hits. Repulski, 28, hit .277, batted home 55 runs, smacked 11 homers and totaled 104 hits.

Bangor Ready For Pen Argyl

Slaters Seek 6th Straight Victory Against Green Wave

BANGOR—Coach Granville Evans and his assistants Dave Pritchard and Paul Wagner remarked following practice sessions on Tuesday "We believe we are as ready as we can be." Evans meant that his squad is ready for the invasion of the Green and White of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School at the Bangor Memorial Park Field on Thursday afternoon.

Much will be at stake for the Slaters as they go into this contest. First they have in mind keeping alive the consecutive victory skein over Pen Argyl that has now stretched to five years. Secondly, they want to get permanent possession of the second Ike Resh Trophy, on which they already have two legs. Bangor won the other trophy by virtue of its third consecutive victory in 1953. With wins in both 1954 and 1955 they still need the victory this year to add the trophy to the Bangor trophy case.

Spirit High
"Spirit is running high in the Bangor camp, and it started early this year. The school is filled with victory signs and the student body is doing its utmost to get the squad in the proper frame of mind for the hoped for sixth consecutive win over the "boys from over the hill." Plans have been announced for a monster pep rally at the high school today at 7 p. m., after which a parade of the school band and students will be staged in the business area of the community. The public has been invited to attend the rally again this year.

With all hands in good physical condition, Coach Evans has indicated that practice sessions have been rugged, hard and driving as the team is up for this contest. Word out of the Bangor camp shows that the team is out to win this for Coach Evans and keep his record of never having been defeated by Pen Argyl intact.

Game Captains
Bangor has named Dale Miller, fullback; Glenwood Heard, halfback, who probably will not see action due to his confining injury in the East Stroudsburg game and Robert Butz, outstanding guard, all seniors as the captains for the Turkey Day Classic.

Although Bangor will be out-weighted in the line by Pen Argyl, a defensive alignment dependent on speed and deception has been evolved by the Bangor staff. Operating on the premise that the best defense is a good offense, the Bangor coaches have spent much of the past week and a half in spot checking the Bangor offensive patterns and they feel they now have the right combinations.

Probable Starters
Bangor's starting lineup, that is subject to change at game time has been announced as Kenny Haas or Bob Hill and Ron DeNardo at ends;

Nittany Gets Chance To Nip Pitt Bowl Bid

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20 (AP)—Penn State gets a chance to sidetrack Pittsburgh's bowl-minded Panthers Saturday in their traditional battle at Pitt Stadium.

Pitt, rated No. 2 in the East, claims the better record against common opposition, beating both Army 20-7 and Syracuse 14-7. Penn State lost to Army 14-7 and to Syracuse 13-9.

An estimated 50,000 will watch the contest—No. 56 in the series that began in 1893. Pitt rules a one touchdown favorite, with a bowl bid hanging on the outcome. Last year the Panthers trounced the Lions 20-0, enroute to the Sugar Bowl.

6-2 Records
Both teams carry 6-2 records into their football feud, with the all-time standings reading Pitt 31 victories, 22 for Penn State and two scoreless ties.

How Times Change
BALTIMORE, Md., (AP)—When Man 'o War won the Preakness, Belmont, Hopeful, Travers and Belmont Futurity in 1893, Pitt rules a one touchdown favorite, with a bowl bid hanging on the outcome. Last year the Panthers trounced the Lions 20-0, enroute to the Sugar Bowl.

Bob Butz and Gary Smith at tackles; George Collura and Gene Trigiani at guards and Charlie Woolley at center. The backfield will have Frankie Butz at quarterback; Bob Menhennitt and J. L. Williams at the halfback slots and big Dale Miller at the fullback.

Officials for the game will be Frank Bechtel, referee; William Partridge, umpire; Robert Plotts, headlinesman and William "Hunky" Trumbauer as field judge.

Sooners Regain AP Top Spot

The Associated Press
THE Oklahoma Sooners apparently won't stand for second best in the National football ratings as well as on the playing field. Coach Bud Wilkinson's red shirted Sooners have regained top spot in The Associated Press poll after spending an unhappy week as runner-up to Tennessee.

So convincing was the performance by the defending national champions, who have 38 consecutive victories, that Oklahoma rode back into first place by a 132 point bulge over the Vols.

Bangor High Music Boosters To Hold Meeting

BANGOR—The November meeting of the Music Boosters Club of the Bangor Area Joint Schools will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 27 at 8 p. m. It was announced yesterday by Kenneth Fritz, faculty adviser.

This month's meeting will be held in the high school auditorium and will feature a variety of entertainment. Special features will be presented by the Columbus School Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Mace. This chorus, known in red and white attire, has been entertaining at a wide number of area attractions in the past several months.

Delaware Water Gap

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Waterbury, of Iowa, who were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Letho, are touring the East before going on to Hawaii to spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ace and Robert and Linda Ace moved Saturday from their Shepherd Ave. bungalow to the home they have purchased on Glenwood Ave. It is the former Oscar Staples home, next to that of Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser.

Mr. and Mrs. Layton Zimmerman, Joan, Jimmy and Jack Zimmerman, moved Saturday from Minisink Hills to the newly enlarged bungalow nearby on the main Minisink Hill road.

Rev. Philip Hanni, pastor of the Methodist Churches at Water Gap and Portland, will deliver the sermon at the union Thanksgiving service Wednesday night. This year it will be held in the Presbyterian Church, at 7:45 p. m.

Mrs. George Hauser is receiving orders for wreaths sold by the Presbyterian Auxiliary on commission. These wreaths are reasonably priced.

Rev. Luther Markin gave a Thanksgiving message in the Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, when he spoke of "Developing the talent for appreciation." Alexander Bensinger had the solo part in the senior choir anthem.

The wedding of a niece at which Rev. Luther Markin will officiate required Mr. and Mrs. Markin to leave for Indiana Sunday afternoon. They will be away over the coming Sunday.

John Bedford's many callers at the General Hospital report that he is greatly improved in health and permitted to sit up out of bed.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 21, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Your Mars and the Moon, in friendly aspects, sugar well for most activities and interests. Saturn warns not to be careless in hazardous work, travel, etc. Give your best in order to achieve sound gains now.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—You may have to supply the impetus and vigor now. Everyday affairs must seem like going miles you must inject new interest, added zest. Fine aspects for military and personal affairs.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—The influences are still restrictive where mental work is concerned, but as the day advances aspects become more liberal. Exercise good reasoning and stick to it—values in essentials and things will be pleasant, productive.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Some caution urged in artistic affairs, matters where finance is needed. Social activities, building, mining work with machinery, tools and in the nuclear field highly sponsored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Engage contractors, iron and other metal work, building, school enterprises among top favored. Police, Bremen, those in work requiring strength and resolute persistence also honored.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—All activities can, should be constructive—not destructive in this splendid Mars day. Moon encourages personal achievement. Smart thinking and management will be needed, however.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Similar to Taurus and Virgo now. Work along with that. You can rise above the mediocre and accomplish wonders if your intuition and all-round capability are functioning in high gear.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Here's a time to show your astute judgment. Don't waste time on unessential, start and keep after the arduous tasks. Benefits can be had through your work and other worthwhile interests.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Some good offerings especially if you think smartly and choose the right course. Personal attention to essentials, home and family matters necessary. No nonsense!

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Be most careful in dangerous work, assignments, confidences, handshakes, loans, food, already application to daily duties will not be fruitful. Be resourceful, use talents right.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Avoid strain and pointless associations. Stay with wholesome activities. Push matters for which you have training, knowledge. Cooperation with structure necessary.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Good opportunities now. Plan, execute, build, build, try new methods and materials. Be progressive. Don't daily.

YOU BORN TODAY are determined, sturdy in intent and application, highly intelligent and if true to your finer qualities are honorable, straightforward and just. It is important, however, that you curb a tendency to dictate to others. Cultivate your God given talents daily. You may have the ability to write, and for music or oratory; could organize and handle big undertakings. Never stop learning, studying. Birthdate: Desire Mercur, Belgian hero Cardinal; Voltaire, fr. author.

'Thanks' Important In Thanksgiving

By Paul Carlson

TOMORROW, Americans will celebrate Thanksgiving—a holiday almost as old as the Mayflower itself.

Somehow, the occasion seems all the more solemn this year as we contemplate the tragic turn of events in Hungary and Poland and elsewhere in the world.

Let's look at the facts for a minute:

Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. Chief delegate to the United Nations, this week charged the Soviet Union has deported 16,000 Hungarians from Budapest, and that many will die in concentration camps.

However, Hungary is not the only country where force has supplanted freedom, where starvation is common, and where other "necessities" of life are unavailable.

Some surveys indicate that while we feast on turkey almost half the world will be going hungry.

Are we any better than others?

We're human beings like all other men, subject to the same emotions, the same failings, the same enjoyments.

Yet the western world seems particularly blessed this season. Our children can get an education in a free society. Employment is the rule rather than the exception. Each week we can worship the Giver of all gifts according to the dictates of our hearts.

Because we owe so much, The Daily Record has asked two local clergymen to point up the significance of this Thanksgiving:

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, East Stroudsburg Methodist Church: "Thanksgiving, what a word to conjure with!"

"Usually it has three components—the giver, the gifts, and the acts of appreciation on the part of the receiver. But in a higher sense, there is a fourth component, that calls for tangible expression of what otherwise would become arid verbosity—mere words of thanks. True thanksgiving demands dedication.

"Someone has said, 'If thou owest ought to God, pay a man.'"

Theodore Chickering Williams expressed the thought in verse: "When the harvest—sheaves ingathered

Fill thy barns with store,
To thy God and to thy brother
Give thee more.

Share with Him thy bread of blessing,
Sorrow's burden share;
When thy heart enfolds a brother,
God's there."

"Life's harvest is so full for so many in America—so sparse in other lands. In the Thanksgiving Day feast we symbolize a plenty that is unparalleled. Over against that, a third of the world's population is always hungry—bread hungry. When we were in Tajima, Japan, we saw hosts of children suffering from ringworm, constant colds, tuberculosis and kindred illnesses conditioned by malnutrition—never enough of the right things to eat.

"And then, how glorious is our freedom—how dark the oppression of millions. Laura B. Cross tells of teaching in Peking, China in 1951 when the Communists took over. She was asked to re-vamp the text books. Maupassant was thrown out. Abraham Lincoln and the Gettysburg Address were banned. Stories that might be humorous were eliminated. Everywhere there was tension—bitter mirthless tension. Yet she gives thanks for the freedom to laugh and closes her statement with these words, "And so today I listen for friendly laughter in darkened corners around the world. For where there is laughter, there is hope!"

"But the perpetuation of freedom is everybody's business. It has been so well said that the securing of freedom is not a hundred yard dash—run in the past by some great athlete who secured the trophy and set it down in the cupboard of the treasury of heritage. Freedom is rather a continuing relay, to which each generation makes its contribution, guarantees its continuance or begins to lose it altogether. Freedom is everybody's business.

"Sweep across the headlines in these days and one comes to the realization that freedom is a priceless possession.

"And so one could go on speaking of the fullness of the American harvest. Thanksgiving for it is surely in point. The psalmist was right when he said, "O that men would praise the Lord for His goodness and for His wonderful works to the children of men." But while we owe thanks to the Almighty, to the forefathers of our nation, to the leaders of its present political, social and spiritual life, the fact of thanksgiving calls us to acts of self-dedication. We need to break the word and place a hyphen between its two parts. Thanksgiving. Thanks is good—giving is the better part of gratitude—it is its fulfillment!

"How many doors are open to Christian generosity in America, where the red feather is like a blessed sign of help and healing where the agencies of the many churches whose missionary programs provide a broad basis for brotherhood and the spirit of peace and understanding—where CARE, UNICEF, the Red Cross, and agencies too many to number here call for thanksgiving.

"How wonderful it would be if in every Monroe County home, when the turkey is being carved, the little child in the family could take a plate or a cup and go to each one seated about the table for a "Thanks-Giving" to the poor and needy at home and abroad. The pastors, the priests, the rabbis would know so well how to direct such a demonstration of family gratitude.

"An unknown author has these words:

"Measure thy life by loss instead of gain,
Not by the wine drunk, but the wine poured forth;
For love's strength standeth in love's sacrifice,

And whose suffers most hath most to give."

Rev. B. H. Hostetter, East Stroudsburg Christian and Missionary Alliance: "Are the American people thankful?"

"The question might be tempered by the attitude of the last person with whom you had a conversation. Some people are always happy—happy people usually are thankful. There are others who are never content.

"The abundance of a man's possessions does not indicate his happiness. Someone has said that very few millionaires are happy. Often the person who has experienced extreme poverty and privation, is the one who expresses to God his thankfulness and demonstrates to others his gratitude.

"I am reminded of an afternoon in the hot season in an Indian village. There was little prospect of work for a month or two when the rainy season would come. Late in the afternoon, a man in the group stretched himself after rising from sitting in the dust. He casually said that he had not had anything to eat that day but that he would try to borrow enough grain from the mayor to tide him over until the rainy season came. He did not murmur nor complain.

"How would you feel?"

"King David expressed his determination in Psalm 34:1: 'I will bless the Lord at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth.'

"At the Thanksgiving services, a comparatively few will attend to give God thanks in a public expression of their gratitude. Can we judge how or when they express their thanks. Some express their thanks in giving. We give to the Church, to the charity, to missions, to world welfare projects. These are at least an expression of thanks.

"But others are never content with what they have and are not satisfied to let others enjoy what they have even though it be less."

Water Gap Purchases 115 Acres

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A 115-acre tract has been purchased by the borough from the J. Purdy Cope Hotels Co., for $13,300, it was announced yesterday by Borough Solicitor C. Edward DePuy.

DePuy reported that the tract, mostly in the borough and partly in Smithfield Township, includes a section of the old Appalachian Trail, Lake Lenape, and all of Caldono Creek, the borough's watershed.

It was indicated that long-range plans may include the development of a dam and a public park on the property.

Thanksgiving Service Set For Barrett

CANADENSIS — A community Thanksgiving service for Barrett Township will be held at 8 tonight in the Canadensis Methodist Church.

The message will be delivered by Rev. Harold MacMurray, pastor of the Mountainhome Methodist Church, while Rev. John Hoesman of the Canadensis Moravian Church, and Rev. Edgar Moore, pastor of the host church, will conduct the worship.

Two Thanksgiving anthems will be sung by the choir of the host church, and the Proclamation of the President of the United States for a Day of Thanks will be read.
